Sept. Rewind

by Tina Disorbio

Cary Wolfson's presentation on iPhone photography illustrated to us that there is no limit to what you can do with photographs taken with your smartphone. Cary Wolfson is best known as the award-winning producer of the Blues From the Red Rooster Lounge syndicated radio show but he is also an accomplished digital photographer.

"Go for more than technical perfection,"

September Evergreen Camera Club Program presented by Cary Wolfson

Wolfson said. "I am all about the drama."

He showed us how to take the ordinary and turn it into the extraordinary. Most of his work is in postproduction using a number of apps. He showed us completed images using different apps explaining the different outcomes each app can give you. He demonstrated his "before" and "after" results using "Snapseed" ("My favorite app, and did I mention it is free?"), "Luminar," "iColorama" and others with incredible outcomes, including one that allows you to make an image of water come to life and appear to flow! He also combines apps and uses lens attachments.

Cary went on a photo workshop recently in Oaxaca, Mexico, bringing only his iPhone. He was so inspired he is returning next month.

"My motto is: just get the shot!"
